

Enviro™ Cover is a uniquely non-reusable polyethylene film developed to meet Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) requirements to control disease vectors, fires, odors, blowing litter and scavenging without presenting a threat to human health or the environment.

Enviro™ Cover provides a complete, continuous and uninterrupted closure of the active working face through to the next deposit of waste. The impermeable barrier of Enviro™ Cover promotes water runoff, minimizes the generation of leachate and controls the escape of odors and gas emissions at the surface of the waste.

Enviro™ Cover is mechanically destroyed by subsequent placement of waste and further deteriorates by stress conditions within the landfill, leaving no toxic by-products and therefore not impeding the movement of leachate and gas.

Formulated to provide effective cover for variable duration periods from days to 4 weeks, all available grades of Enviro™ Cover film are engineered with extremely good tear and puncture resistance, high tensile strength and elongation properties. Enviro™ Cover is designed with the ability to stretch over uneven working face surfaces to provide optimal and complete landfill coverage.
